Topic of the Site: Impact of Electro-Magnetic Radiation (EMR) on our Health, & Efforts to Reduce the Use of Dangerous Wireless Devices.

The tenor of the site is a scientific one aiming at correct citations as far as possible, following the understanding that science only can be that what is written down.

The American Academy of Environmental Medicine states, that 3% of the students [who are exposed to wireless systems at school] will experience immediate adverse reaction from exposure to wireless radiation and 30% time-delayed reactions.

On this site, under “Mobile Communication” we understand any kind of wireless communication, not only by cell phones, smart phones and WiFi, (Tablets, Laptops, Computers and Television Receivers, if switches to “wireless”), but also by Bluetooth, Babyphones, Smart Meters, Smart-home devices of any kind, Radar of any sort (military, air traffic, shipping traffic), Police Radio, Public Authority’s Radio;
i.e., wireless information transfer of any description.

Key Parts of the Site, assumingly most convincing to ignorant people and decision makers:

- > Medical Doctor’s Appeals on EMR danger,
- > Court Decisions on EMR,
- > Laws in several countries limiting use and emission of EMR,
- > Limits of EMR which are astonishingly different in different countries,
- > Petitions demanding cutback of EMR,
- > Resolutions of High Boards on the topic.

More Material can be found in the navigation menu at the left of any page.

We don’t promote devices which allegedly neutralize harmful effects of EMR without reducing their physical power.

Date of launch: Birth of the Site after 12 weeks of pregnancy at 28. Feb. 2015, owing to thankworthy help of all my friends and critics of EMR.
Site will permanently be revised. Suggestions are highly welcome.

Date, current: See the actual date at the head of any document indicating the day of last revision.
